DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: In paragraph 0005, line 2, "coarse" is misspelled.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

4. The meaning of "polymer modified emulsion asphalt oil" is not understood. Polymer modified asphalt emulsions are known, but they contain no oil. The meaning of "Burlington-Keokuk limestone formation", Elsey-Reeds Spring formation" and "Pierson formation" and their significance are not known. There is no "cubicle" shape aggregate extant. Cubical shape maybe? (Claims 12, 20 and 42). It is immaterial how the stones are crushed, when a composition or a method of using the composition is claimed (claims 11 and 31).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

7. Claims 1-47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Ohtsuka et al. 5,925,695, in view of Yoshida et al. 5,352,062 or Ward, Jr. 4,373,960.

8. Ohtsuka et al. disclose asphalt emulsion, polymers, water, Portland cement, crushed stone and stone powder in Examples 8 and 9. Slip preventing properties of the aggregates is shown in column 10, lines 30-43. See also Examples 11 and 13 and claim 9. Applicants' claims are not novel. In the alternative, Yoshida et al. teach a non-skidding road surface comprising asphalt (claim 1) coarse aggregate having a hardness of 3% or less as measured by a Dobal tester (claims 2-11) and fine aggregate (claims 12-15). For embedding the coarse aggregate in fine aggregate see column 2, lines 43-65. Ward, Jr. recites a typical screen analysis for coarse aggregate usable in asphalt road coverings in column 7, lines 20-38. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art; at the time the invention was made, to use the aggregate blend of Yoshida et al. (in order to take advantage of its hardness and skid resistance properties) and the particle size distribution of Ward, Jr., (which is preferred in patching compounds), in the composition of Ohtsuka et al.
